NAZIS INCREASE DAYLIGHT RAIDS ON BRITAIN

German Bombers Reported Making Inland Attacks

Liverpool And East Anglian
Towns Report Daylight
Raid Attacks

BRITAIN EXPECTS
GREATER RAIDS

Believe Daylight Attacks
Will Be Intensified Until Invasion Is Attempted

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
LONDON, Feb. 1.—Sweeping far inland, German warplanes this afternoon were reported over Liverpool and East Anglian towns.

First dispatches reported that bombs were dropped in the East Anglian area. Up until mid-afternoon, no raid
warnings had sounded in London.

German air activity over the British Isles during the night was confined to armed reconnaissance, the air ministry reported.

"There was slight enemy air activity in the early hours of darkness
last night but no bombs were dropped," a war bulletin said. "Apart
from this, there is nothing to report."

It was understood that weather conditions over the continent prevented R. A. F. bombing activity last night.

To Intensify Raids

London, Feb. 1.—German bombers
probably will intensify their renewed daylight assaults on Britain
until the Nazi high command consider the moment ripe for a gigantic mass air attack and a simultaneous invasion attempt, British military experts predicted today.

PA NEW OBSERVES

February started out in cold fashion last year, with one of the three mornings of the winter when the temperature dropped below zero. So far this winter, we haven't had any such low temperatures, but winter run until along in March, so there's plenty of time for it yet. Speaking of temperatures, nothing could be quite as agreeable for winter as the past week has been. The temperature ranged between a low of 24 degrees and a high of 33 degrees
throughout the entire week.

Drivers who were dilatory in getting their applications in for the new state licenses this year were given a respite by the state yesterday, the time limit being extended to February 10.

Tomorrow is the annual groundhog day. Just one guess would be necessary as to what kind of weather
will follow groundhog day, Pa
New would surmise. More winter.

Pa New notices that the month
of February has few historic dates and birthdays. But then, February is a short month, with only 28 days.
Wednesday, Feb. 12, will be Abraham Lincoln's 132nd birthday anniversary. February 12 is also Grogg's Day in that state. In addition to being St. Valentine's Day, February 14 is also Admission Day in the state of Arizona. Saturday,
Feb. 15, marks the 43rd anniversary
of the destruction of the battleship
USS Arizona.

Big Berthas Shell Britain

By JAMES E. BROWN

LONDON, Feb. 1.—Held down by poor weather conditions, German
"Big Berthas" and planes nevertheless bombarded England in "nuisance" attacks today, while British military experts predicted intensified Nazi daylight assaults.

Long-range guns threw giant shells across the English channel
from the French coast for three hours, from 3 to 6 a. m., but no
casualties or damage were reported.

The shelling—the first since Thursday—concentrated on the Dover area.

Some casualties were caused and buildings were damaged by single Nazi air raiders in East Anglia, and other raiders bombed Norfolk and Suffolk areas by daylight.

Employee Of Draft Board Is Held For Trial

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 1.—Fred
Kaplan, employee of a Philadelphia draft board, was held in $25,000
bail today on a charge of extorting $50 from a conscript on the promise to obtain deferment for him.

The 29-year-old defendant was seized in a trap arranged by G-men
with the co-operation of the draft registrar. The arrest, authorities said, was the first in the country
involving a draft official.

The high bond was demanded by
U. S. Commissioner Norman J.
Griffin, who held Kaplan for a further hearing on February 10.

Fluctuating Wage Contract Is Signed

(International News Service)
DETROIT, Feb. 1.—Believed to be the first of its kind, a union contract providing automatic wage adjustments in proportion to every two per cent fluctuation of living costs
has been signed with the Eaton
Manufacturing Co., Morris Field,
UAW-CIO international representative, said today.

The Eaton Co., which manufactures products for national defense and which has five plants in Ohio
and Michigan, was recently involved in a strike called by the union. The contract covers workers in the Detroit plant.

Senior High School Class Is Graduated On Friday Evening

"Success in life comes from making an extraordinary amount of work," Dr. Herbert L. Spencer, president of the Pennsylvania College
for Women at Pittsburgh, told Senior high school's 76th commencement audience in the Cathedral last
night.

And turning directly toward the 242 seniors before him, the Pittsburgh educator added:

Stay Awake In Daytime

"Two more things remember, too—
that success comes not so much from sitting up late at night as it does from staying awake in the daytime, and that you can't climb the ladder of success with your hands
in your pockets."

He asserted earlier in his address
that the greatest danger facing American youth is the tendency to exchange real security for man-made security.

"That's something the economists
don't talk about," Dr. Spencer said.
"Yet it is our greatest danger. France didn't talk about it either—France thought it was secure with its great man-made fortifications."

After listening to the speaker tell about a European trip he made several years ago, the graduation crowd
heard him add:

"I think the United States government would have been ahead if it had given every American $1,000
some years ago and let them see for themselves what Europe was like."

Wm. G. McAdoo Taken By Death

World War Secretary Of Treasury Dies In Washington, D. C.

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Former Senator William Gibbs McAdoo,
World war secretary of the treasury,
sponsor of the famed liberty loans,
a candidate for the Democratic nomination for president in the 1924
convention, and a former son-in-law of Woodrow Wilson, died suddenly of heart disease today in a Washington hotel.

McAdoo was stricken during the night and to ease his suffering physicians administered injections of morphine and he lapsed into unconsciousness. He did not arouse from the coma before he died this morning.

With him at the time of his death were his wife, Mrs. Doris Cross McAdoo, and his daughter,
Mrs. Brice Clagett.

McAdoo had a long career of public service beginning with superintending the construction of the tunnels under the Hudson river in New York in 1902 and ending with his defeat for re-election to the U.
S. senate in 1938.

McAdoo was 78 years old at the time of his death.

Shenango Firemen Save Lytle Home

Fire In Living Room Is Extinguished At Early Hour
This Morning

Shenango Township firemen,
working under Lieut. Tom Shaffer, extinguished a blaze in the home of the Lytle at East New Castle, which threatened destruction of the home
at 2 o'clock this morning, and which caused a loss of around $200.

The fire was discovered near the fireplace in the dining room, and prompt arrival of the firemen in response to an alarm resulted in the blaze being brought under control
in short order.

Punxsutawney Awaiting Signal From Groundhog

(International News Service)
GOBBLE'S KNOB, Punxsutaw-
ney, Pa., Feb. 1.—With less than 24 hours to go until the "shadow hour,"
the Punxsutawney Groundhog Club
completed last minute preparations
today for handling a Sunday morning flash on Willie Woodchuck and the weather.

Although the traditional day of recording Br'er Chuck's prognostications on whether another six weeks
of winter is in the offing falls on the Sabbath, the official word from weather headquarters will not be withheld.

(Word from the east that the slumbering Groundhog Lodge of Quarryville, Pa., would defer announcing its furry seer's forecast until Monday, gave the Gobbler's Knob weather scouts no concern.)

The local scouts will be on Canoe Ridge tomorrow morning, ready to relay the shadow signal—more winter if Willie casts his image—to the wireless station half a mile to the east. Wig-Wag squad and shadow-graphers were in fine form.

"Don't be surprised if it's more winter. It usually is."

Formal festivities concluding in the second annual Groundhog Day
banquet will be held Monday night,
however, with Harry C. Fleming,
superintendent of the Pennsylvania
Electric Company in Punxsutawney, presiding as toastmaster and former District Attorney Mortimer Graham,
of Erie county, appearing as principal speaker.

Three Infant Boys Burned To Death Near Greensburg

(International News Service)
CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., Feb. 1.—
Stark tragedy today held the Yohe family at Beartown, small Franklin county hamlet, tightly in its grip.
Fire which destroyed their modest home had burned to death their three infant sons.

The dead were Stewart George,
2½; Howard Bruce, 18 months, and Martin Fred, six months. The three perished before the eyes of their mother, Mrs. George W. Yohe, as neighbors were unable to rescue
them because of the leaping flames.

Greek Forces Claim Victory

Report Capture Of Great
Section Of Italian Fortifications On Central Front

OPENS WAY FOR DRIVE TO VALONA

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
ATHENS, Feb. 1.—The greatest single victory of the Italo-Greek war was claimed for Hellenic forces today in dispatches which told of the capture of a great section of Italian fortifications on the central front.

The series of Fascist positions,
captured yesterday, open the way
for a Greek advance toward the Plain of Berat and brings them in-
to a most favorable position northeast of Valona, it was said.

Military experts in Athens said
the sweeping new victory gave Greek forces the "key to the gate of Central Albania" and opened up new possibilities for attack of the enemy's most vulnerable positions.

Italian troops north of Tepelini—
estimated at more than one division
—were reported to have been completely isolated, and some reports said they were desperately trying to break through to avoid complete encirclement.

Another new advance was made in the areas north and northwest of Pogradec where Greek patrols took a number of prisoners and occupied new advance positions, reports stated.

Germany Seeks To Refute Intimation On Poison Gas Use

Authorities React Strongly To Suggestion Of Secretary

Possibility

BERLIN, Feb. 1.—German authorities reacted strongly today
against the suggestion of American Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox
that the Reich may use poison gas
when the threatened invasion of England begins.

Wilhelmstrasse officials sought to refute Knox's statement by recalling Chancellor Hitler's plea, voiced Oct.
6, 1939, that the war be kept within humanitarian bounds.

(Editor's Note: Testifying before
the senate foreign relations committee in Washington yesterday, Secretary Knox predicted an early German attempt to invade England.
Knox stated information in his possession indicated Germany might use poison gas on a large scale in the course of such an invasion attempt. He added that the Reich plans a naval assault against the western hemisphere if England falls.)

departure today for Camp Shelby, Miss., where they will spend the coming year
in intensive training, under the National Defense program of the nation.

Today was a hectic one for the artillerymen as they spent the few precious hours remaining in getting everything in readiness for their departure.

Shortly before 5 o'clock this afternoon, assembly will call the men will line up and be checked off, and they will head from the Armory at Cascade park for the East Side yards

including city and county officials,
members of the Perry S. Gaston
post, American Legion, former members of the old troop and Society of the 28th Division, A. E. F., which will form a parade of escort to the West Side station.

March Through City

The men of Battery F will be under the command of Captain George F. Mitchell, who resumed charge of the old Troop F several years ago,
following an absence from duty of several years. He took command
following the resignation of Capt.
George Seiffert, who had been commander of the local unit.

Capt. William H. Goering is in

was re-elected president for the coming year.

Other officers named were: Norman W. Book, vice president, and Lee Roy Miller of Butler, secretary and treasurer. Preceding the re-

were approximately 65 in attendance at the meeting.

Other members of the board are:
Roy Moore, W. J. McKee and H. B.

the loan committee, and alternates
to this committee were H. B. Mar-

'Lease-Lend' Bill Final Action By March 6 Is Aim Of Supporters

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Administration leaders of congress, seeking to chart a time-table on the lease-lend bill, today predicted final enactment about March 6 despite contention of foes that there is a steadily rising sentiment against the measure.

In the face of uncertainty caused by the senate rule of unlimited debate congressional leaders planned passage of the bill in the house on Feb. 7, predicted a week's consideration in the senate foreign relations committee and three weeks on the senate floor.

The senate committee was called
into session today to complete examination of Secretary of the Navy Knox, as Sen. George (D) Ga.
chairman, threatened to impose a
time limit on questioning of witnesses to speed hearings.

To Seek Amendments

The determination of Republican House Leader Joseph Martin, Mass., to force drastic amendments of the measure, however, confronted the administration with a serious threat
in the house. The house begins debate on the bill Monday.

Martin, who personally has organized coalitions and overthrown
New Deal legislation, barred politics in his fight, but declared that the measure must be radically modified. He favors aid to England.

"Unless the bill is modified beyond the 'window dressing' amendments of the committee, many members will vote against it," he said.

The Republican fight for amendments, it was indicated, will be for:
A one-year time limit, barring use of American ports to repair foreign warships, prohibition on convoys,
and prohibiting disposal of naval vessels without consent of congress.

Admittedly some house Republicans favor the bill, and some said
they would vote for the measure
even if their fight for amendments failed.

CAIRO, Feb. 1.—Two bat-

and the other for possession of Agordat in Eritrea—today progressed favorably
for British Imperial forces,
according to the middle east

Italian troops, it was re-

on the north Libyan front,
yet are withdrawing toward Bengazi for a final stand at the latter port.

In Eritrea, it was believed,
the British forces, largely composed of Indians, are about to close in on Agordat, key rail center. A terse
British communique said:

"Contact with the enemy west of Derna is being maintained."

Willkie May Leave Britain On Tuesday

May Return To Testify Here

Senate Committee On Lease-Lend Bill Would Like To Hear Willkie

WILLKIE REPORTED READY TO APPEAR

(BULLETIN)
(Internal Mail Service)
LONDON, Feb. 1.—Wendell L. Willkie will cut short his stay in Britain and probably depart from London for the United States Tuesday night to testify on the lend-lease bill before the senate foreign relations committee in Washington, it was announced officially today.

The announcement said the former Republican presidential candidate is cutting short his visit to Britain at the request of Sen. Walter F. George, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee.

Request To Willkie

The senator's request was transmitted to Willkie by cable by Secretary of State Cordell Hull. It asked Willkie to return to America as promptly as possible.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: In Washington yesterday it was stated that Willkie and Dr. James B. Conant of Harvard University, testifying before the senate committee, will close the administration's case in favor of the lend-lease measure. In London, Willkie already has stated he will be delighted to testify before the committee.)

It was believed Willkie's view of conditions in Britain may be of great importance to the congressional decision on the lend-lease measure. Willkie declined further comment on this.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Wendell L. Willkie, recent Republican presidential candidate, today cabled the Senate foreign relations committee that he will rush back to the United States to make a plea for passage of the lend-lease bill.

Willkie, now in London, said he would leave Lisbon by Clipper plane February 5. He said he expected to return in time to testify on Monday February 10.

GERMAN BOMBERS REPORTED MAKING INLAND ATTACKS

Following yesterday's widespread daylight "lone wolf" raids which caused considerable casualties and damage and proved the heaviest daylight bombing Britain has taken in months.

The new German tactics, which the British described as "armed reconnaissance," are definitely regarded as a prelude to an all-out 1941 air offensive by the Nazi Luftwaffe.

Qualified British sources said the new German campaign is "picking up" where the Luftwaffe left off last October after a protracted period of daylight assaults. During that period, according to British claims, the number of German planes shot down by British fighters reached heavy proportions.

These quarters also expressed belief that the present attacks now will continue until the long-heralded Nazi invasion attempt is launched.

"Pre-Easter Advance" Campaign Planned

This year, as during the past few years, an increase campaign will be sponsored by the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association the eight Sabbaths to and including Easter Sunday, April 13, and this will be known as the "Pre-Easter Advance" on four fronts, the front of Evangelism, the front of Sunday school attendance, the front of church attendance and the front of Bible study. These are the goals set by the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association.

There are eight districts comprising the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association, and in New Castle and the districts outside of New Castle last year, there were 65 Sunday schools participating. In New Castle there were four groups arranged as to size of Sunday schools, and each district outside of New Castle was considered as a group. This year, as last year, awards will be presented at the annual county convention to the Sunday school in each group, having the best percentage of attendance during the campaign.

The plan is simple and effective. The competing Sunday schools furnish their average attendance for the calendar year 1940. This is taken as the basis, and every one in attendance during the campaign over the average attendance of last year, counts a point. The Sunday schools having the largest number of points, in comparison with last year's attendances, are the winners. Every Monday in The News the standings of the various Sunday schools are published.

Percentage figures have been furnished weekly only on the Sunday school attendance, and in some cases, the church attendance during the campaign. The evangelism plan is largely a matter for the pastor and Sunday school superintendent, with perhaps a committee to assist, to work out in the individual churches and Sunday schools. During last year's campaign some of the participating Sunday schools worked out regular percentage figures that were published, showing the percentage of church, Sunday school and Bible study.

Some of these figures were very gratifying and will be published again this year if they are given when Sunday school attendance figures are supplied. The Bible reading goal is also a matter largely for the individual Sunday schools, although plans for systematic daily Bible reading are furnished.

There are but two ways that a Sunday school can show an increase in attendance, first, by getting the enrolled members to attend and second, by enrolling new members.

In the past there has been some house to house visitation made and some of the participating Sunday schools have on file cards of prospective members in the vicinity of their churches. The amount of visiting done this year will be largely a matter for the individual Sunday schools to decide.

The Lawrence County Sabbath School Association furnishes the plan, the publicity, announces the winners and makes the awards. The individual Sunday schools that participate make plans for increasing Sunday school attendance and meeting the other three goals.

MEASLES EPIDEMIC STILL GRIPS COUNTY

Lawrence county is still gripped with the epidemic of measles, county health authorities stated today, 92 cases having been reported to them during the past week. The bulk of these were from New Castle, with 23; Neshannock township, with 14; and Wampum, with 11.

There were also eight cases of chickenpox, one of pneumonia, and two each of scarlet fever, mumps and whooping cough.

Italian planes proved deathtraps because English fighters have eight guns. And we're still building them with less.

BRITISH FORCES REPORT PROGRESS IN TWO BATTLES

Although few dispatches from the sand-swept desert front trickled into Cairo, the British command reported that operations were continuing to develop to "our advantage." Royal air force bombers were reported carrying out heavy raids on Italian bases in western Cyrenaica.

While Anglo-Australian mechanized forces continued their Libyan push, British Imperial troops, including Nigerian warriors, were reported to have driven 40 miles inside Italy's southernmost east African colony of Somaliland.

In the embattled Kenya district of Moyale, near the south Abyssinian border, British troops were closing in on an Italian force while in Eritrea British forces continued their drive from the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan toward the Red Sea.

Rome Report
Rome, Feb. 1.—British mechanized troops, seeking to drive westward into Libya, were forced to retreat in the face of a fierce counter-drive by Italian armored units, the Italian high command announced today.

Aided by dive-bombers which strafed the British columns, the Fascist troops forced the British to abandon their desert positions, and fall back on secondary defense lines, the war bulletin said.

EDITOR'S NOTE: In Cairo, the British command admitted that Italian resistance west of the fallen Fascist base of Derna had stiffened.

Both British and Italian troops sustained heavy losses in heavy fighting on the northern frontier of Italian East Africa, the communiqué reported. Italian warplanes were reported to have participated in the border fighting.

Freighters Sunk
Cairo, Feb. 1.—Battles for control of Bengazi and Agordat, key centers in Libya and Eritrea, raged on the far-flung battle fronts of Africa today while the R. A. F. announced destruction of two Italian freighters in a heavy raid on Tripoli.

Aided everywhere by the air force, British troops smashed forward slowly against hard-fighting Italian forces west of Derna on the Libyan coast and around the railroad and highway center of Agordat in East Africa.

Bombers striking far to the west of the battle-zones in North Africa dropped tons of bombs on Tripoli last night, R. A. F. headquarters in Cairo said.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph.D.

PLAY-WORK SHOP FINE FOR CHILD

Any family with growing children who can afford to have a car to use part-time for pleasure or can go together to a movie once a month can afford a play-work shop for their children.

A work shop can be built gradually year by year at very little cost. While a basement corner, garage, attic or separate room might be desirable, a home work shop can be in the corner of a kitchen, living room or bedroom.

Begin with the lot of two or younger. Give him large crayons with which to scribble and draw on large sheets of wrapping paper which come to the house with your purchase, or remnants of wall paper (using the back), or large sheets of unprinted newspaper. Give him a box or plank of soft wood, of composition boards, a few large-headed nails, and a hammer and see the useful fun he can have. Entering a farm home recently I saw a log pounded "full of holes outside the door. "Grant did that?" I asked. Grant is two. "Yes," answered the mother. "He can keep himself busy pounding nails for half an hour at a time."

A Work Bench
Then I suggested that he also could get great fun if she would get a small vise which would cost 25 or 50 cents and fasten it on the kitchen table or on a bench outside, and a short saw and a narrow piece of soft board so he could have a work bench.

Later the child can learn to use a draw knife and file or rasp, and still later a plane to smooth the wood. Even with only a saw, hammer, nails and some pieces of boards he can have days, weeks and months of profitable enjoyment.

I am in the habit of saying he, I hope that does not signify a feeling on my part of masculine superiority! Do for the girl in these early years, even up to ten of twelve, as you would for a boy. Neglect neither the girl nor boy. Provide him as well as her with scissors, paste, bands, fasteners and the like, and let him as well as her learn easy needle work which does not require close eye application nor fine hand movements. Likewise encourage each in the use of kitchen tools and adventures in baking and cooking.

Add Tools As Needed
Quite early your child can use a gimlet and screw driver, and earlier than you suppose, he or she can use a brace and bit.

Watch the child's development. Add each new tool as soon as you are sure he can learn to use it without too much danger to himself or the tool.

Needless to say, the child should learn early just where and on what he may use the tools. Also guide him in keeping his tools and workshop in reasonable order. Always be interested in what he makes, however crude.

Gradually this will attract playmates to the home to share the child's work. Let your child exercise responsibility and leadership in this workshop.

I might be classified as almost feeble-minded in respect to using tools, though Mrs. Myers rates high. Anyway our children had, by the time they were in high school, a work shop which included among other things, an electric drill, electric lathe, electric circular saw. Yet I can recall no serious accident in this work shop. They learned to use tools carefully, and they bought most of them with their own money.

Together with a number of their friends, they spent many profitable and pleasant hours in this work shop, often preferring it to a movie. You may have a graded list of toys and tools by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, N. Y. City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

Roosevelt's Foreign Aides Under Fire
Isolationists Eye Personal Embassies
Recall Events Preceding Great World War

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The mysterious activities of President Roosevelt's personal emissaries in war-torn Europe are the subject of a deal of speculation by isolationistic senators and representatives in Washington. They keep recalling that President Wilson sent the late Col. E. M. House on a similar mission prior to our entrance into the last world conflict and that, following whatever report he subsequently made to the executive mansion's tenant in that era, in we went ourselves. Maybe the sequence of our participation in the strife shortly after the colonel's trip was only a coincidence, but the isolationists say it was that, at least.

And supposing, as the isolationists do insist on supposing, that President Wilson's one emissary was a considerable influence in involving us in the 1914-18 conflagration. "How much greater," query the worried isolationists, "must be the danger from the unliking with a buzz-saw by President Roosevelt's four?"

The first was Sumner Welles. It isn't quite fair of the isolationists to refer to Sumner as having personally represented the president only on the European tour he made not long ago, considering that he's undersecretary of state and consequently traveled in something of an official capacity. Still, he did it on an unofficial basis and the isolationists don't know exactly what he said while abroad or what news he brought back to the White House.

Willkie Trip Unofficial
Of course, Wendell Willkie isn't a big official and theoretically he isn't personally presidential, either. He made it abundantly clear that he was going overseas exclusively for his own information. All the same, the state department did everything it could to help him along and he had F. D. R.'s autographed letter of introduction to the Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Britain. The isolationists express the opinion that the statement Willkie says he intends to make upon his return will be just the kind of statement that F. D. R. wants. They argue that, to all intents and purposes, he's the latter's confidential agent.

There isn't any doubt as to Harry Hopkins' status. It was plainly announced that he was going as a fact-finder and possibly as a message-deliverer for the president. He left with the clear understanding that he was responsible to nobody else. He created quite a splash in London too. Among other things, Premier Churchill introduced him to the house of commons, and in connection with that, the premier made a speech tying the United States most definitely into Britain's cause. It was a combination that the isolationists don't like a bit.

Col. William J. Donovan ("Wild Bill") Donovan likewise crossed the Atlantic on some stunt for F. D. R. He was the state department or someone's other. Precisely to whom he's answerable isn't at all fully revealed. Anyhow, congress hasn't the remotest notion what he's up to which greatly frets the isolationists. He's described as an observer, but, additionally, he seems to have some sort of authority to negotiate. He chats with kings, premiers and generals. The isolationists would like to learn what's said, but they can't find out.

"Harry the Hop?" "Wild Bill" Donovan? "How's that," mourn the isolationists, "for a pair of diplomats names?"

And "Vendell Willkie!" some critics add.

Nobody's thought to pronounce Sumner's name "Velles" and it wouldn't be appropriate, either. And neither has he any suitable nickname, like "Harry the Hop" or "Wild Bill." Consequently, Sumner gets off comparatively easily. Furthermore, his trip wasn't as spectacular as "Vendell's," "Harry's" or "Bill's."

It certainly was a mistake on play Harry in parliament in London. It gave our isolationists a chance to yowl. That, however, wasn't Harry's fault.

"Wild Bill," though, didn't have to make himself ridiculous by losing his passport on the eve of his departure from Sofia, Bulgaria. Losing your passport in present-day Europe is comparable to mislaying your false teeth or, if you've got one, your cork leg. Yet it's what you might expect from a guy named "Wild Bill."

Labor Laws In The Way

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.

WHEN the President first set up his defense machinery, nearly eight months ago, he was told that it would not work well unless he did two things—first, put one man in charge, with full power to do the job; second, modify or relax the New Deal labor legislation, which cramps and makes more costly operations in all industrial plants.

THOSE things are still true and Mr. Roosevelt is still being told them. But up to to date he has done only a little to correct the first and nothing whatever about the second. It is true that the original Defense Commission has been more or less merged into the strangely named as that presented above. Officially called OPM. While it is less cumbersome than the other setup and there is more delegated authority, the recognized single head does not exist.

EVERY informed person knows the dual management is not functioning satisfactorily. A good many observers—and some inside the organization itself—are extremely skeptical of its lasting. If we get into the war it will become impossible to make plain statements of fact such as that presented above. Already among certain New Dealers there is a tendency to talk about the necessity of doing something to check "destructive criticism," which in their view consists of any comment not entirely laudatory of Administration activity.

HOWEVER, we are not yet at war, and the fact that the present setup is nothing like as effective as it should be—and easily could be—is one the American people have a right to know and which can still be presented without reprisals. That is true also of the fact that the labor legislation, against relaxing which the President has set his face, stands in the way of a fully speeded-up effort. Everybody knows that, but nothing has been done about it, and up to now there is no serious purpose to do anything.

At present the Walsh-Healey Act is replacing the Wagner Act as an irritating stumbling block which adds to cost and lessens efficiency. The fact is that the wage-hour law and the Walsh-Healey Act constantly overlap and interfere. The first applies to all industry; the latter, merely to industry having Government contracts. The situation is clearly put in the following letter from a Western manufacturer with a defense contract. It is typical of complaints from all parts of the country.

"THE wage-hour law," writes this man, "requires time and a half to be paid for all overtime above forty hours per week, while the Walsh-Healey law requires that overtime above eight hours per day be paid at the time-and-a-half rate."

Under the Walsh-Healey act, governing Government contractors, they are required to pay extra overtime on a nine-hour day even though only twenty-seven hours was the total hours worked during the week. The Government is, therefore, boosting its

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

NEW YORK—Under-Secretary of State Sumner Welles denies the Monroe Doctrine is a vehicle for aggression.

The Monroe Doctrine is and always has been a policy of self-defense and not a policy of aggression.

ST. LOUIS—Gov. Dwight H. Green of Illinois views American democracy as its own strongest shield.

"No alien 'ism' can menace our liberties and our solidarity as long as we preserve our way of equality and opportunity for all."

NEW YORK—Rear Admiral Clark H. Woodward praises the American merchant marine:

"Our merchant seamen and officers—from earliest colonial days to the present—have given to the American merchant marine a record of which our nation can well be proud."

CHICAGO—Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox defends the aid to Britain program as a boon for preservation of the Monroe Doctrine.

"Support of Britain and joint control of sea power is the only possible salvation for the Monroe Doctrine."

A wise man feareth and departeth from evil, but the fool rageth, and is confident.—Proverbs 14:16.

THE WORLD GROWS SMALLER

OF COURSE it's old stuff to say that the world's growing smaller. But it can scarcely be repeated too often, because it so drastically affects the future of our country and the policies we decide on today.

Lauchlin Currie skips off to China on a loan matter; within a week he will be talking to Chiang Kai-shek far in China's interior. "Wild Bill" Donovan telephones the White House from the Balkans, just as you'd call the corner grocery. Wendell Willkie skips over to Britain for a look-see, just like going downtown to the movies, and reports are current he will hurry back to Washington to give important data before the lease-lend bill hearings close. The President has already advised him against writing, cabling or telephoning.

For better or for worse, the world is growing smaller, and as it does so, every part of it becomes less and less independent of what happens in any other part. We of the United States, traditionally independent and isolationist, may not like it, but we can't change it.

THOSE 700 TRIPS TO FLORIDA

News trickled out of a House Appropriations sub-committee hearing the other day that last winter 700 Federal employees went to Florida on government expense accounts. There was nothing whatever to show that the excursions to the sunny Southland were not vitally concerned with the nation's business and the preservation of American democracy.

Yet the fact that the hebra of government workers to Florida took place between Nov. 15 and March 1, a period in which Washington weather is notorious for an incivility that amounts to downright nastiness, suggests that not all the tours may have been made mandatory by official projects, asserts the Philadelphia Inquirer.

It is pleasant to know that the 700 government workers could take time out from their arduous labors in the country's behalf to dash down to Florida at the height of the season. After all, what is the cost of a few hundred little trips like these to a nation whose taxpayers are getting used to paying—and paying? One may only wonder, in passing, how many Federal employees have gone down there this year.

RIGHTS VERSUS DUTIES

Americans' faith in freedom is based on the belief that every human soul has its own sovereign rights—rights that are not merely granted by society but are an essential of the human character. Since society is nothing apart from the men and women of which it is fashioned, it can never ignore this right of freedom without courting its own destruction.

Yet this freedom is not the freedom for men to do as they please. Even in primitive society this freedom is denied, and the complex demands of civilization deny it in a thousand ways. When men agree to live together for the sake of work or happiness, they set limits to their behavior and agree to live beneath a code and law.

Yet the right of freedom remains. It is a right not to natural but to spiritual freedom. Its most vital doctrine is that men have the right to think as they please.

Man as a member of society has duties rather than rights. As an individual his rights are supreme. The problem of society is to appoint to each man his duties while scrupulously protecting his rights. For in the right of men to think as they please lies the only hope for the endurance and perfection of society.

SOME RESULTS OF F. B. I.

In these days when the safety of our country is dependent in preventing sabotage and subversive activities, it is heartening to see some of the results disclosed in the report which J. Edgar Hoover, director of the F. B. I. for the past sixteen years, submits annually to the attorney general.

The current report has just been released and discloses 5,605 convictions in F. B. I. cases during the year, or 96.46 per cent of the cases investigated. Of the 182 kidnappings since they were made federal violations, 180 have been solved, while the other two are under active investigation. These are but examples taken from the wide field of activity of the F. B. I., which should be strong deterrents to crime.

On the national defense angle, the report says: "Since the outbreak of the war in Europe, there have been no acts of sabotage in our country attributable to foreign agents."

While operating on the amazingly small sum, as government expenditures go, of $7,300,000 annually, the F. B. I. returned to the government last year $38,390,180.64 in actual fines, savings and recoveries, or $8 for every dollar spent.

LARGE NUMBERS OF SPENDERS

The exceptions prove the rule that people like to spend money. So early in life does the desire assert itself that it is thought by some to be instinctive. There is less odium attached to the name "spendthrift" than to its opposite, "miser," which might be cited as evidence of the universality of the buying-habit.

This tendency of the masses to spend and buy is recognized by those who have something to sell. Before some may spend there must be others with something to sell and the times when the demand has exceeded the supply have been infrequent and of brief duration.

There are many degrees of buying or spending. Some people spend more than their income. Some buy for the love of "shopping" and others because they need the things they purchase. There are the heavy spenders as well as the thrifty spenders. Every member of civilized society must buy and spend in greater or less degree.

But there are only two types of sellers. There is that type which strives to give the buyer his "money's worth," and there is the second type which sees in the spending propensity an opportunity to get the other fellow's money for nothing.

It is unfortunate that the public does not do all its spending with those who give "honest weight" for its dollars. If it did there would be no need for laws against using the mails to defraud, wildcat stock, bogus promotions and confidence men.

The final test of an author's genius is to write a letter to relatives and not let it sound like a painful duty.

Judging by the reports of men to be needed in American industry, soon everybody will have to earn his bread by the sweat of his brow.

"I have four growing daughters, two as neat as anyone could wish. The other two—one of them the eldest of all—are just the opposite. I've tried every form of discipline but nothing has so far improved the latter pair. What would you suggest?"—Mother.

Answer: Conspire with some males whose opinions the culprits resist to vociferate, within their hearing, in praise of the good girl's neatness. Examples (1) "Kitty, you and Babs always look just like a couple of starlets all ready for the screen. We fellows surely do fall for gals who always look so spick and span." (2) "Babs, just by looking at the top of your dressing table when I pass by your room I can always picture your things all put away spick and span, like a man pictures his bride's will be." (3) "Kitty, I was looking at your desk at the office and know it is an index to what a delightful spot your own room would be."

It is, indeed, unfortunate when anyone, especially a woman or a girl, lacks neatness. Well-bred men are never happy with such women. Even those of the lowest class admire cleanliness and orderliness in their wives and sweethearts. Women of the class that make their living by their sex appeal know that these virtues—even if the only ones they possess—are prerequisites.

Question: Give us some information on military weddings. Is it correct for the bride to be given away by a civilian? I am referring, of course, to a formal wedding. All of the male attendants are fellow-officers, the officers march out to the church steps and, dividing into two lines, they raise their swords to form an archway of steel under which the bride and groom walk to their waiting automobile. The swords are not raised until the bride and groom appear at the church door.

Question: Recently, I received an invitation to an "at home." When I arrived I discovered it was the engagement announcement of the hostess' daughter. Should I now send a gift to the girl?—Mrs. D.

Answer: Engagement gifts are rare. They are usually given only by members of the family, if at all, so you need do nothing at all about it.

The Great Game Of Politics

defense costs by the Walsh-Healey law and in addition to this has a separate organization of auditors to check on Government contractors. It seems ridiculous to have different regulations for manufacture on Government contracts and those on private contracts. It adds unnecessary extra cost to the Government defense program and extra costs for administration. The wage-hour law gives ample protection to labor and should apply to all manufacturers, regardless of the class of business they are doing."

In theory, the Walsh-Healey Act applies only to firms working directly for the Government, not to subcontractors, and only to employees working on Government contracts. In fact, however, it is exceedingly difficult to separate the goods that go to private customers from the other kind, and confusion in factories where the work is for both is inevitable. Even where the segregation is possible, the double wage standard—one for Government work and one for private work—breeds rebellion and resentment. So great are the difficulties that the United States News asserts many small firms are refused to take any part of a Government order, even under a subcontract. They fear that Walsh-Healey regulations, with extensive record-breaking requirements and elaborate Labor Department inspections, will be extended to their plants.

EVERY thoughtful person in touch with the defense program is aware of the complications and confusion which these restrictive laws create. Every such person knows that the best results cannot be obtained until and unless there is some adjustment and some modification of these regulations. Yet Mr. Knudsen can do nothing about it, and Mr. Hillman, the labor leader who is "associate director with coequal power," naturally won't do anything that will make it possible for his labor friends to say he has "sold out" to industry.

NEITHER Mr. Green nor Mr. Murray—even if they should want to—can afford to take the initiative in recommending the waiving of these laws. There is, of course, only one man who can do it, and he is in the White House. With immense popular support and at the very peak of his prestige, Mr. Roosevelt could bring about—and without trouble—a modification of these regulations in the interests of speed, efficiency and economy. It is the obvious thing to do, but it just does not fit into the New Deal doctrine, which in this business of defense seems to be that everybody must make sacrifices except labor.

Assemblyman Assails Resolution By Jones

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Feb. 1.—Rep. Arthur P. Brethrick, R. Delaware, today assailed a resolution introduced by Rep. Presley N. Jones, D. Lawrence, calling for an investigation of the activities of the Communist party in the state.

Brethrick, in an effort to oust him from the legislature, in a statement issued by the Republican state committee, Brethrick defended his colleague, terming the Jones resolution as an "outrageous example of political sharpshooting." He accused Jones of an "abortive attack on Wilkinson's integrity to satisfy a personal grudge."

The resolution cited Wilkinson for alleged abuses of his legislative office on the grounds that he sponsored tax bills resulting in special financial benefits to himself. Wilkinson has denied the charges. The resolution will be sent to committee for consideration when the house reconvenes Monday. It calls for a committee of five to investigate Wilkinson's conduct.

Brethrick was one of three members assigned in 1939 by the house committee on municipal corporations to study and prepare the delinquent tax legislation which is now under dispute. Former Rep. Herbert H. Rosenberry, R. Northampton, and Wilkinson, were the other two.

"Mr. Wilkinson's connection with this legislation was a matter of assignment, not choice," said Brethrick. "He and the other members of the sub-committee were drafted to prepare a series of bills. As I recall it, Mr. Wilkinson asked to be relieved of the responsibility, but he was selected because of his broad knowledge of tax matters." Wilkinson is head of a delinquent tax collecting agency.

Secretary Hines Urges Investigation

Asks Probe Of State, County And Municipal Workers Of America Union

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Feb. 1.—An investigation of the State, County and Municipal Workers of America, a C.I.O. union, for "Communist activities," was asked today of the General Assembly by State Secretary of Labor and Industry Lewis G. Hines.

Hines is a former A. F. of L. organizer, who split with the State Federation of Labor in the 1938 gubernatorial election to support Gov. Arthur H. James.

"I would suggest that the General Assembly empower the (joint state government) committee to subpoena the membership rolls in the state, county and municipal workers union throughout the state of Pennsylvania and to not only inquire into their subversive activities but to ascertain how many of its membership were affiliated with the Communist party throughout the years of 1937, 1938, 1939 and 1940, and how many of its members signed Communist party petitions during that time, and how many, throughout the various parts of the state, particularly in the Pittsburgh district, joined the exponents of the Philosophy of Marx, Engle, Stalin and Lenin, who held forth in the "little red schoolhouse," well-known to everyone familiar with Communist party activities in that section."

Hines' statement was prompted by the recommendation earlier this week that state employees of the unemployment compensation division which is under Hines jurisdiction, should not be permitted to join an outside labor union. Hines said the legislative committee should have frankly stated that it had the CIO union in mind when it issued its report. Many unemployment compensation employees are members of the CIO union, while a lesser number belong to an A.F. of L. affiliate.

Awards Are Made In Latin Classes

Senior High And George Washington High Announce High Ranking Students

With the close of the semester, the Latin classes of the senior high school and of the George Washington Junior Senior High school announce the names of their high-ranking students. These awards are made on the basis of a series of objective tests. All these students become candidates for Senatus Romanus, the honorary club of the Latin department at the senior high school, if they are not already members.

From the Vergil class, the summa cum laude award went to Hazel Ann Mark, who received as her lasting token of that honor, the Senatus Romanus medal. This medal is struck from a golden bronze metal and shows on its face the open book and pen of scholarship and a laurel spray for achievement, together with the letters N. C. S. R. for Novi Castell Senatus Romanus. The winner of the medal has for a number of years been presented by the Lawrence County Bar association with a cash prize of $10. Hazel Ann Mark received this award from the Bar association at the commencement exercises.

The senior high school announces the following additional awards: Magna Cum Laude in Vergil to Lou Moneta, who according to the established custom also received the Senatus Romanus medal properly inscribed. For excellence in Cicero, Roberta Street has won the official pin of the Junior Classical League, a national organization.

In the Caesar classes George Washington Junior-senior high school, reports Robert Calvin for Summa Cum Laude, Harry Thompson for Magna Cum Laude, and Joe Vogan for Cum Laude.

Senior high school Caesar classes selected Margaret, Clement for Summa Cum Laude, Kathleen Angellio for Magna Cum Laude, Edward Joseph and Marjorie Markles both for Cum Laude.

The general public will be interested to know that these students and all other students in Latin classes are laying a foundation for mastery of English such as boys and girls who have never studied Latin do not have. To this educational fact the English teachers continually give witness.

They are installed in the walls and have vertical shafts which permit soiled clothes and linen to be dropped directly to the laundry.

We're Teaching a Vice-President How to Climb a Pole!

SOMEWHERE in Pennsylvania the future executives of this company are learning the telephone business—from the bottom up!

Hundreds of recently-hired young men are learning how to climb poles . . . how to splice cables . . . how to install and repair telephones. Hundreds of young women are learning to operate switchboards and accounting machines . . . or how to serve telephone customers in our business offices.

All told, close to 3,000 young men and women have joined this company in the past year. Many of these new recruits will find a lifetime career in this business, as thousands of us have. They will receive good wages, enjoy a high degree of job security and share in our plan which provides for sickness, accident and death benefits and pensions upon retirement.

They are being carefully trained in the telephone work for which they are best fitted. Then they will take their places under the watchful eyes of our many experienced veterans.

Almost two-thirds of our 17,500 men and women have had ten years or more experience in this business.

About 4,000 have had twenty years or more.

About 1,000 have had thirty years or more!

This wealth of experience is a vital ingredient of your high quality telephone service. It will temper and train the influx of new recruits.

Working together, our new recruits and our veterans are forging an ever-improving service for the telephone users of today and tomorrow.

Chicken Dinner For Battery Men

Battery Men Have Big Meal At Armory Prior To Departure South

It was with a splendid chicken dinner, the cooks closed the "eat" program at the Cunningham Armory, for the officers and soldiers of Battery F and Second Battalion Service Battery, who leave this evening at 6 o'clock, from the Pennsylvania Railroad Station for Camp Shelby, Mississippi.

The boys were all in good spirits, and anxious to get going. It was "all hands on deck" this morning, when the men of both batteries, under First Sergeants Willard Miller, of the former unit, and James F. McGovern, of the latter, supervised the final loading of equipment on the city trucks, to be taken to the depot ready to be placed on the train.

Everything was manipulated in a splendid manner, according to orders from Commander Captain George F. Mitchell.

Maybe it proves nothing, but the only land with a congress is the one where the radio advertises headache powders.

Eating spaghetti is like spelling "banana." The trick is in knowing the right place to chop it off.

President Signs Two-Ocean Navy Defense Measure

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—President Roosevelt today signed the bill authorizing the expenditure of $909,000,000 to hasten the two-ocean navy construction program.

The bill calls for an appropriation of $400,000,000 for the construction of not more than 400 "mosquito boats" for harbor and shore patrol; $194,000,000 for facilities for the manufacture of munitions, ordnance, and armor at either private or naval establishments, and $315,000,000 mostly for additional anti-aircraft guns on naval ships already constructed.

At the same time, the president signed a bill amending the internal revenue code by a 60-day extension on the time limit for certification of national defense facilities and contracts for amortization.

The amendment provides that the advisory commission and the war and navy departments may certify the necessity for facilities, provided the application for a certificate is filed before Feb. 6, or within 60 days after acquisition or the beginning of construction, whichever is later.

(Copyright, 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

DIPHTHERIA

Medicine's victory over diphtheria has been twofold. First science developed antitoxin. With this preparation you could clear up the worst and most stubborn case of this dreaded disease, if you were allowed to.

I make that qualification because in introducing the antitoxin in some of the back country I had a good deal of superstition to overcome. The people had a queer belief that the antitoxin caused paralysis. As a matter of fact, a bad case of diphtheria often did cause paralysis. I have seen people who went through life with an arm or a leg paralyzed from diphtheria, and plenty of victims of the disease were paralyzed in some way or another for weeks after they were cured. Gradually most would get rid of the paralysis and regain the normal use of their limbs. This paralysis was caused by the poison developed by the disease affecting this or that nerve. Sometimes it was the heart that was affected and then the patient died.

Sometimes, a doctor wouldn't be called to see a diphtheria case soon enough, or he might not inject quite enough of the antitoxin when he did come. As a result there was enough of the poison left in the patient's system to cause a paralysis of some sort. But persons who were suspicious of antitoxin blamed the injections for this effect.

However, as I said, while this administering of antitoxin would check diphtheria once the disease was started, it didn't prevent the disease occurring. Also, the effect of the antitoxin is apt sometimes to be temporary. You see, when you inject the antitoxin in a child ill with diphtheria, it merely neutralizes the poison already present from the disease. This is called passive immunization since the body doesn't do anything to overcome the poison, but leaves it all to the antitoxin.

In those early days before toxoid rendered people immune to the disease, I adopted a practice that apparently reduced the number of cases in the country. I had to do all the preventive work I could because I had such a huge territory to cover that if an epidemic got really started I was almost helpless. So each fall I took around a silver salt solution to each of the schools in my district, and I instructed the teacher to swab a child's throat the moment it got sore. Even if it was only a simple sore throat it helped to cure it.

"Mass Slaughter" If Nazis Attempt To Invade Britain

Such Is Belief Of Wendell Willkie After Investigating Defenses Of England

(International News Service)
LONDON, Feb. 1.—Adolf Hitler will subject his army to the risk of "mass slaughter" if he attempts an invasion of England, Wendell L. Willkie told reporters last night on his return from an inspection trip of the Dover area.

"The defenses are tremendous," he said. "They far exceed my expectations."

"The Germans will have a tough job if they try to invade. I don't think they have a chance. It will be mass slaughter if they try."

"They (the English) showed me everything with complete candor and frankness. I can only say that their preparations are most elaborate. They have not overlooked anything."

Willkie was scheduled to have tea with King George and Elizabeth Friday afternoon but it appeared the engagement was postponed.

Engineers To Hear Westinghouse Man

State Newspapers Given Tribute

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 1.—Major Irving W. Hart of national selective service headquarters today paid a tribute to the support which Pennsylvania newspapers have given the selective service program in this state.

"Pennsylvania newspapers beyond a doubt are wholeheartedly giving attention to selective service," said Major Hart during his visit to state selective service headquarters. "It is such a public-spirited attitude on the part of our press that contributes to the greatness of our country."

Another reason for unemployment is the phonograph record. When an announcer makes one, it does his work for the next year.

INCOME TAX IN A NUTSHELL

PERSONAL EXEMPTIONS AND CREDIT FOR DEPENDENTS
Domestic relations enter into the making of an income tax return. This shows itself in the matter of personal exemptions. Too many taxpayers do not understand who is legally the head of a family, or what is a dependent. As a consequence, they overpay the government by not claiming their proper exemptions and credits. Of course the auditor of their returns discloses most of these errors, but not all of them, due to negligence or lack of understanding of the income tax law and regulations.

Care is taken in drafting the instructions for filling out the forms to make them simple and easily understood. The taxpayer should study these instructions before making out his or her return.

The head of a family, as defined by the income tax regulations, is one who, because of a legal or moral obligation, supports and maintains in one household a dependent individual, or individuals, closely connected with him by blood, marriage, or adoption. As such, he or she is entitled to a personal exemption of $2,000.

A credit of $400 is allowed for each dependent. A dependent is one under 18 years of age, or one who is physically or mentally defective and incapable of self-support. He need not live with nor be related to the taxpayer.

If husband and wife contribute to the support of a dependent, the $400 credit may be taken by the one contributing the chief support, and it may not be divided between them. Likewise, if two members of a family contribute to the support of a dependent, the one who contributes more than one-half of the support may claim the credit.

Both the personal exemption and the credit for dependents must be prorated when the status of the taxpayer changed during the year.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

The common cold is so prevalent that few respect it enough.

Colds cause more time-loss from work than all other ills combined.

The common cold never kills and seldom causes serious illness.

The "cold" virus is a treacherous one.

It opens the way for other, more serious, disease germs.

It weakens the mucous membranes in the upper respiratory tract.

Adequate rest is most important in treating a cold.

The incubation period of the common cold is short—24-36 hours.

A person with a common cold becomes non-infectious in 3 or 4 days.

The symptoms, however, may persist for several days longer.

The most infectious period is the initial day of the "cold."

Good physical condition helps prevent "catching" the common cold.

Let's not worry. Civilization won't be doomed until evil can support itself by passing a collection plate.

Judge Charles Matthews, Jr. held his first court on Friday morning, where it was in the court house only two more weeks and but three days of each week to add taxpayers in preparing their personal tax returns.

Mr. Barnhart will be in the court house on the second floor, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of the next two weeks. After that the returns must have been made.

Government is giving way to politics in the matter of court house discussion these days. It's gotten to the point where it is almost safe to accuse any one in the corridor with the question "what are you running for?"

By the time the filings are all in for the September primary, the ballot is going to look something like an army blanket. Both of the major parties, Republican and Democrat look forward to plenty of candidates and with the number of offices to fill the ballot will be large.

The offices for which nominations will be made are judge, district attorney, sheriff, register and recorder, three jury commissioners (two nominations on each ticket), two city councilmen, city controller, three school directors. Twelve offices are open and if each party averages four candidates to each office the ballots will contain 96 candidates' names.

The annual report of the county controller has been submitted to the court and approved by Judge W. Walter Braham and Charles Matthews, Jr. The report shows where your money went for the year 1940, where it came from, how much is left and what is owing. In a short time it will be published in The News and you should take time enough to look it over. It is your money and you should know how it was spent.

Just who will do the repairs on the annex building, due to the fire is not settled yet. Architect Harry M. Wirsing who drew the plans for the remodeling of the building has prepared a set of estimates for the repairs. The insurance companies can have the work done themselves or they can make a cash settlement and the county commissioners will do them.

It will be some little time until the repairs are started and the county commissioners estimated today that it would be close to April 1 before the offices would be ready for occupancy.

Louis' Blow To Body Stops Red In Fifth Round

Heavyweight Champ Louis Wins Over Durable And Game Burman

SCHEDULE DORAZIO AS NEXT VICTIM

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Red Burman lay draped across the bottom rope swaying there like someone who had dashed across no-man's land only to die on a strand of barbed wire.

This was the picture Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis had today of his latest victim in the thirteenth defense of his title, a defense which saw Louis add to his accomplishments with a body punch, knock-out. The finish in the fifth round was a bloody, macabre thing. Still, it was no more nor any less than was expected.

We can say this for Burman: He was game and durable after a fashion last night before 18,061 customers packed into Madison Square Garden, but after all that too is no more nor less than should be expected. A heavyweight fighting for a cut from a $62,899 gate should be able to go for a while.

Old Baltimore Red did just this—for four rounds. In fact he won two of the four rounds and took unto himself the additional honor of being the first man ever to cut Louis. He opened a thin little hairline gash over Louis' left eye with his mauling and swarming bit, in turn, was slashed so thoroughly that he was a pitiful caricature while he lay there swaying limply on the bottom rope at the finish.

Burman Wins Two Rounds
Louis had won the first two rounds although he had backed up most of the time, when Burman won the next two, but actually arrived at the finish in the fourth when Louis reared back and pulled the trigger on his Sunday punch, a straight right hand which landed a little high but, nevertheless, dressed Burman up for the pay off in the next round.

Here's the way the finish came about as a matter of information, although it probably isn't overly important considering that it was a foregone conclusion:

Louis landed two or three lefts and rights to the chin, then feinted another punch to Burman's jaw and ripped his right with a loud smack deep into Burman's body and stretched him across the ropes as previously mentioned. Burman lay there inert with the blood running out of his eye and nose in a steady stream while Referee Frank Fullam counted him out.

Louis wasn't too good last night, especially when Burman swarmed into him and a punched fighting Burman's fight might have wrecked some havoc and even perpetrated an upset. If just so happened that the 188-pound challenger didn't have enough to do more than win the two rounds and to impart some momentum with a feeble swing to a slip that carried Louis through the ropes to the apron of the ring in the third. All in all, it was a good four round fight, Louis weighing 202½.

Next, Gus Dorazio, at Philadelphia, Feb. 7, and one a month thereafter as usual.

FORT WORTH.—Southwest Conference basketball officials called an average of 27 personal fouls in the first 14 games of the season.

Gersons-Falcons To Battle Sunday At Falcon Court

First Of Two-Game Series, Both Teams Eager For Fray, Factors To Play Warren

Basketball fans of New Castle are all agog today over the impending battle Sunday at the Polish Falcon hall on Miller avenue when the Gerson basketball team, one of New Castle's finest quintets, will clash with the strong Polish Falcons in the first of a two-game series.

In the preliminary game at 2:30 o'clock the Factor Variety girls play the championship Warren Repas Girls club team. This is a grudge battle as both teams won from each other last year and both games were decided by two points. Manager Joe Factor feels confident that his lasses can break the series deadlock on Sunday. The Factors will have their strongest lineup available, it was announced.

Teh Falcons will be trying for their 13th straight win of the season. The Gersons will be out to break the deadlock in the series after twice when each defeated the other twice on their home courts. The Gersons will have the best reserve material in the acquiring of Al Bucci, late of the high school team, who will report to Manager Walter Perch for the first time Sunday.

This is the game that the fans have been waiting for all season and the Falcon hall will no doubt be packed to capacity for the event. The lineups of both teams are dotted with well known local star performers.

Following are the probable lineups:
Falcons: Gersons, Kendra, F., G. Gennock, E. Koszela, F., Bullano, Potoczny, C., Olsen, Adams, G., N. Gennock, Sniezek, G., Cabas, Sub, Falcon, Wenda, Klamut, H. Koszela, Kwolek, Sub, Gersons—O'Brien, Hordig, Bucci, Parou, Zingaro. Referee—Hanlon.

The half ended 13 to 8. Bader and Clark did the bulk of the tallying for the Mounties with Nene high point getter for the losers.

Why Are They Called Titans? Here's Reason

Have you ever wondered why Westminster's basketball teams are known as the Titans?

Year in and year out, the Lawrence county representatives rank among the tallest cage combinations in the land.

This season, as an example, Westminster has height plus.

The Titans' roster includes the names of nine performers who tower above the six-foot mark. Stan Wasik, the Pittsburgher, is tops with his six-foot four frame. Dale Dumire, Vandergriff, hits the six-foot three mark; so do Fred Miller, Connelville, and Jim Bennett, Edgewood.

Church League Games Friday

Second U. P., Epworth And Croton Win In Thrilling League Battles

Three exciting battles were staged in the New Castle Church league at the "Y" last night. In the first game it took the Second U. P. team two extra periods to subdue the hard fighting Greek St. George team 32 to 30, with McGary, Jameson and Poleno starring.

The Epworth team nosed out the St. Mary's team 36 to 30, in an interesting second game, with Wainio, Morrison, Gibbo and Maher the scoring stars in the battle.

In the third and final game the Croton team led by Sheehy and Schetrom defeated the First Methodist team, 40 to 35. Miles and Headland were best for the losers.

Nine-Game Winning Streak Third For Titans

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Feb. 1.—The Westminster cagers' nine game winning streak of nine games without a loss is the third time in Titan basketball history when an opening-season winning-streak has gone as high as nine games.

Longest opening season stretch of consecutive wins for Titan teams came in 1934-35, when Westminster won 10 games before losing to Pitt on the Panthers' home floor 38-32.

In 1933-34 the Blue and White travelled along the victory route for nine games before being halted by Duquesne.

In 1938-39 Westminster ran up a seven-game win list before losing to W. & J. Chief breakers of long Titan winning records have been Pitt, Duquesne and Geneva.

Although Coach Grover Washbaugh's Towering Titans are certain to better their last season record of 11 wins and 7 losses, the Westminster cagers will be pushed hard to better such records as 1928 with 17 won and 3 lost, 1931 with 16 won and 1 lost, and 1932 with 13 victories and 1 loss.

Not since 1936-37 have the Titans had a clear title to the mythical conference championship, which they held for 10 years, from 1928-1937 except for the 1932-33 season, when the Titans lost twice to Geneva.

Shenango Wins Overtime Fray

East New Castle High Cagers Snare 23-22 Victory Over Union Five

In one of those see-saw battles that kept the gallery agog all the way, Shenango Township emerged with a 23-22 section 20 victory over Union Township in an overtime fray played on Shenango floor Friday night.

Shenango was in front, 5-4, as the opening period closed. Union played an almost perfect defensive game in the second stanza, limiting Shenango to a lone marker. The Scotlan Laners romped off the court at halftime with an 8-6 lead.

The third period was a wild and woolly affair with both teams taking the lead at some time or other. Union finally grabbed a 15-14 advantage as the third stanza ended. The scoreboard showed a 22-22 deadlock as the 4th period ended. A charity toss decided the game in favor of Shenango in the overtime period.

O'Neil and Brunton starred for Shenango, the pair amassing 17 points between them. Christie and Pitzer played an excellent floor game. Dougherty and Reynolds stood out for Union.

Results of games played in Pearson Street Junior floor loop:
Ohio State defeated Purdue, 27-25; Minnesota spilled Michigan, 21-7, and Northwestern won the first round title by flattening Wisconsin, 33-22.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

One sport notation after another—Mike Kulich, the ex-New Castle high cage basketballer, is pursuing the game in more than one way. Flipping with the Grobotters of the House League, Mike is the hottest thing around. After hitting the track for 23 markers recently, the South Side product donned his hoop raiment a few nights later and pottered 35 points. As a sideline, Mike coaches the Gersons.

Along the bowling alleys the boys and gals are saying a lot of nice things about Alice Cunningham. Seems that Alice has developed into one of New Castle's best duckpin demolishers. The female star cashed in with a 255 score recently. A member of the City Girls' Duckpin team, Alice is averaging about 145, an average that would make most males feel exceedingly proud of their bowling ability.

Several readers want an encore on Wes Bennett, the ex-Westminster cager. So here goes. Bennett pottered 1,172 points while flipping for the Titans, over a four-year stretch. His top feat, in Madison Square Garden in 1935, rocked Manhattan's cage circles. Bennett, that year, piled up 21 points against St. John's. Three of the field goals were the spectacular variety. Bennett shot backwards over his head while moving away from the hoop. Wes collected 372 points in his farewell year.

Checking further into record books, 'tis noted that Paul E. Brown, of Ohio State's new grid generalissimo, is the third mentor to skip from high school into college. Bob Zuppke, at Illinois, cleared the high barrier, so did Ab Kirwan, who directs the pickpicking at Kentucky university. Further investigation would probably disclose that there are several others throughout the land who hopped the hurdle.

Of all the sports on the books, wrestling is the favorite among women. The fairer sex prefers the grunt sport to any other. Never too old dept.: Kenneth (Farmer) Berry is captain of the Illinois wrestling team. At 30 Berry represents the oldest athlete to ever captain any of the Illini's teams. Married for more than eight years, and the father of four children, Berry is working his way through. Part of his duties are to milk cows for the university dairy at five in the morning!

Joe Krakauskas, Cleveland hurler obtained from Washington, has applied for U. S. citizenship. The pegger is Canadian born and not a Cuban. . . . Joey Kune and Luke Appling topped American League infielders in the first base-to-short-stop-to-first base double play. They did it 11 times in 1940. . . . Doc Prothro did something with those Phils last season. The Doc tightened the defense sufficiently to lift the Phils from the honor of leading the loop in runs allowed. Pittsburgh took over, allowing 783 runs.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

A tie resulted in the opening Friday of the North American speed skating championships, with Leo Freisinger, Chicago Olympic veteran, and youthful Ted Ellenwood, Amsterdam, N. Y., tied at 30 points. In the women's 220 Miss Tiny Landry, Fitchburg, Mass., won.

John Kimbrough, Texas A. & M., wants $15,000 in cash in advance instead of $3,000 advance from Douglas Hertz, president of the Yankees' professional football team, for next season's play. John wants it all so he can buy a ranch in July but Doug can't see it that way. Tommy Harmon, Michigan, will enter radio and will not play pro football.

Mat Show Heads Sports Calendar

"The Angel" Highlights Wrestling Show Here On Wednesday Night

Wednesday's professional wrestling show, billed for The Arena starting at 8:30 o'clock, headlines the local sports calendar next week. That "bad humor man" of the mat, "The Angel," occupies the leading role. The French freak meets Lord Albert Mills, British champion, in a 10 six-minute round bout.

In addition to being a talented grappler, the 38-year-old Frenchman ranks as one of the most educated members of the mat fraternity. He studied and passed the bar exams in the U. of Toulouse, France. "The Angel" is under constant observation by a corps of Harvard University scientists.

His opponent, Mills, is 6 feet 4 inches tall and weighs close to 240. He has been tabbed as one of the best crowd pleasers in the game.

The semi-final spot, an eight six-minute round set, involves the celebrated "Gus" Sonnenberg, ex-world's champion, and Abe "King Kong" Kashey, Sonnenberg, who is making a comeback, copped the title by flattening Stranger Lewis.

Kashey, known as the sinister Syrian, is one of the most experienced hands in wrestling. In 37 matches, Kashey has dropped three, two of them by decision, one by fall.

The curtain lifts, a six six-minute round affair, brings together the Polish "superman," Wladislaw Talun, and Pete Baltram. Talun is 6 feet 9 inches tall and weighs 303 pounds.

All bouts will be staged under the new Australian Round System.

Thomas Brilliant In Final Match With Rifle Club

Wilbur Thomas Leaving With Battery F Today Has 198 String As New Castle Sets Record

Wilbur Thomas, member of the New Castle Rifle club, and one of the best shots in the entire country, last night shot his farewell match with the New Castle club at the Cathedral range and recorded a brilliant 198 string out of a possible 200 perfect count. Incidentally New Castle set a league record for team score with an excellent 971 count, the highest ever shot in the Penn-Ohio league.

New Castle rifle club is going to miss Thomas in the second-half race for the pennant. We will be away for a year with the local Battery aiding Uncle Sam's defense program and the army is getting a great rifle shot. His league average is 194.54, a very enviable mark.

New Castle defeated Niles last night needless to say 971 to 644. The results: New Castle—Thomas 198, George Milnes 195, Jesse Moore 194, McGinnis 193, Mowry 191—total 971. ## Craine, Frank Lead Wampum To Victory

Wampum Grabs Second Place In Section 20 By Topping Bessemer, 45-37

Paced by Frank and Craine, Wampum High skyrocketed to second place in the torrid Section 20 cage race by sidetracking Bessemer, 45-37, Friday night at Bessemer.

The Hennon drilled cagers were never better than they were last evening. All told, the Wampumites amassed 19 field goals and seven charity heaves. So good was the aim of the Wampumites that they piled up a 17-2 margin as the initial quarter ended. By halftime, the Cementers held a comfortable 20-7 margin.

The last half was wild with both aggregations splitting the mesh with deadly accuracy. Wampum cashed 12 more points while Bessemer accounted for 14 markers in the third quarter. In the last period, Bessemer potted 16 points compared to 13 for the winning quintet.

Frank and Craine, two of the classiest cage hands in the loop, each rang up 17 points. Summers led Bessemer's attack with 14 markers. In the preliminary number, Bessemer Reserves copped a 38-27 decision over Wampum's seconds.

By LESLIE GOULD
(International News Service Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The stock market slipped to a new low for the current decline today after opening comparatively steady.

Bethlehem Steel lost a point. U. S. Steel was down almost as much. Chrysler lost over a point, but General Motors was steady.

There was big trading in Consolidated Oil whose price was down slightly. Other oils were heavy.

Coppers eased after a firm start. United Aircraft was under pressure in aviation. General Electric ran into considerable selling and moved down fractionally.

Railroad shares were lower. Chemicals and utilities were quiet and steady.

Accused Negro Is Acquitted By Jury

State May Take Appeal On Verdict In Connecticut Case

(International News Service)

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Feb. 1.—Accused by an all-white jury of charges that he assaulted his socialite employer, Mrs. John K. Strubing, Jr., in her Greenwich home, Joseph Spell, Negro chauffeur-butler, today was back in jail pending decision of the state on whether to appeal the verdict.

Immediately after the verdict was announced at 11:55 p. m. last night nearly 13 hours after the case was given to the jury of six men and six women, State's Attorney Lorin W. Willis asked that the Negro's $15,000 bail be extended for 48 hours to give the state time to decide whether it would appeal the acquittal as is possible under Connecticut law. With the request granted, Spell was remanded to jail in default of bail.

If no appeal is taken, Spell will be a free man Sunday for the first time since December 11 when he was taken into custody in the Strubing home. At the trial, where he testified as a state witness, Mrs. Strubing charged that Spell had assaulted her, forced her to write a ransom note and then threw her into the Kensico reservoir from which she ultimately made her way to safety. She said she had been overpowered by her employee upon emerging from the bathroom of her Greenwich home.

Spell took the witness stand in his defense and denied the charge, asserting that Mrs. Strubing had submitted to him without resistance.
